The Philippines lies in the southeastern coast of Asia between 4°23' north and 21°25' north latitude and 116° east and 127° east longitude. It is bordered by the waters of Bashi Channel up its north, Sulu and Celebes Seas down its south, the Pacific Ocean to its east, and South China Sea to its west. Via air travel, the country is just within a few hours ride to Brunei, China, Hong Kong, Japan, Malaysia, Taiwan, and Vietnam.

Stretching to an area of 300,000 square kilometers, the Philippines is composed of 7,107 islands, of which only about 3,144 are named. Luzon, Visayas, and Mindanao are the three largest groups of islands. These groups of islands are further subdivided into regions, the regions into provinces, and the provinces into cities and municipalities. The cities and municipalities are further subdivided into barangays.

The country is subdivided into 17 regions, namely, Regions I-XIII, the National Capital Region (NCR) or Metro Manila, Cordillera Administrative Region (CAR), and the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM). The (NCR) has 16 highly urbanized cities and one urban municipality. As of September 30, 2014, the country had 81 provinces, 144 cities, 1,490 municipalities, and 42,029 barangays.

Two distinct seasons, the wet and the dry, characterize the climate of the country. During the wet season, (June until November of the year), rains shower all across the land. The dry season, meanwhile, starts from December to May of the succeeding year. These seasons bring about temperatures ranging from a cool of 18.7°C in January to a peak heat of 36.0°C in March.

Different foreign races streamed into the country and left traces in the genetics of Filipinos, likewise in their customs, cultures and traditions.

Ferdinand Magellan discovered the Philippines on March 16, 1521. This signaled the start of more than 300 years of Spanish colonial rule and other turning events in the history of the country.

Spain conquered the Philippines in 1565 and named it after the Spanish king Philip. The Filipinos experienced injustice and oppression under the Spanish rule and this sparked massive unrest that eventually turned into revolution, thus weakening the Spanish rule.

Spain declared war against America but was defeated. Following the Spanish-American War, in December 1898, Spain ceded the Philippines to America through the Treaty of Paris. Filipinos resented the new colonizer. An outbreak of Filipino-American War from 1899 to 1902 happened, and the Americans won. Filipinos still held their dream for independence and their sovereignty. Later this dream for sovereignty was recognized, and the Philippines acquired self-government as a Commonwealth of the United States of America (USA) in March 1934.

World War II broke out. The Japanese invaders occupied Manila on January 2, 1942 and consequently the whole country. On October 14, 1943, the Second Republic was inaugurated with Dr. Jose P. Laurel as President. This republic established a puppet government under the Japanese administrators.

Allied forces led by General Douglas Mc Arthur landed in Leyte on October 24, 1944. This herald the historic liberation of the country from Japanese invaders. The Philippines attained full liberation in February 1945, and this set the country's rebuilding efforts.

Succession of presidents emerged to carry out the task of rebuilding the Republic - Manuel Roxas (1946-1948), Elpidio Quirino (1948-1953), Ramon Magsaysay (1953-1957), Carlos P. Garcia (1957-1961), Diosdado Macapagal (1962-1965), Ferdinand E. Marcos (1966-1986).

In 1972 because of widespread unrest, President Ferdinand E. Marcos declared martial law. He stayed in power until People Power Revolution toppled his government on February 1986 and seated Corazon C. Aquino as president (1986-1992). The Aquino administration believed in popular governance and in her administration saw the passage of a new constitution.

Fidel V. Ramos (1992-1998) succeeded President Aquino in 1992. His vision was in the slogan Philippines 2000. His administration believes that by pooling the citizenry to be globally competitive, at the turn of the century, a newly industrialized country would be attained.

In 1998 elections Joseph E. Estrada supported by masses won a landslide victory and became the 13th President of the Republic. His administration focused on efforts to achieve more equitable distribution of the country's resources. In the slogan Angat Pinoy was encapsulated the government's pursuit of achieving economic recovery. Barely two years in his office, he was forced to step down by another people revolution on January 20, 2001. Gloria Macapagal Arroyo took oath and became the 14th President.

President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo badges her slogan Strong Republic. Her administration set out a 10-Point Agenda of governance to bring about progress and attain poverty reduction.

May 2010 elections, a new president was elected. By an overwhelming vote, Benigno Simeon C. Aquino III won and seated as the 15th President. His administration was anchored and centered on the slogan Tuwid na Daan, a campaign against corruption which stands to the present. His term of office ends in 2016.

The Philippine government follows the 1987 Constitution to guide its political and governmental affairs while at the same time safeguarding civil rights and liberties of the citizens. The country advocates for a democratic system of government wherein powers rest on three governing departments: the executive, the legislative and the judicial. The President heads the Executive branch and he has a Vice-President and 24-member Cabinet to aid him in leadership. Laws limit the President's term to a period of 6 years.

The Legislative branch is made up of the Congress, a bicameral body with 24 senators and over two hundred district representatives duly elected by the people. In the last May 2013 national and local elections, congressmen and over 50 members of the party-list were elected. The party-lists are organized lobby groups representing marginalized sectors of society.

The Judicial branch, on the other hand, is made up of the Supreme Court, the Appellate, the lower courts and the special courts established by law. The Supreme Court is composed of the Chief Justice and 14 Associate Justices. The Court of Appeals, meanwhile, consists of a Presiding Justice and over 60 Associate Justices.

In sharing and mobilizing the resources for countrywide development, the government is distinctly divided into national and local sectors. Local government sector has officials elected by the people and to serve their constituents for three years. Local autonomy is provided for in the Local Government Code of 1991 in the province, city and municipality.
